

ALEXANDRIA.
MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 10.

THE PHILADELPHIA American, in reference to the action of the late Northern Assembly of the Presbyterian Church on the subject of race distinction, says: "The church, some of the members of which, who are in favor of such distinction, have been quoted as on the record in favor of separate organization for white and black in every body below the General Assembly, now declares that it never has said or done anything that commits it to that policy, and came within three votes of saying that it did not care a snap of the fingers what the Southern Assembly thought of its action." The American only says what actually took place. There may be a reunion of the Presbyterian Church of this country, in the future, but that it will not be in the near future, is proved by the action of the Northern Assembly referred to, as well as by what the American says of that action.

SENATOR EDMUNDS says the best means to obtain a free ballot and a fair count is to entrust the execution of the registration and election laws to men of the highest character and ability in the respective precincts, taken from all parties. Good enough. But if, as General Mahone says of his party, there be not enough intelligent men in some of the counties of Virginia to fill the offices thereof, how is it possible that men of the highest character and ability can be found in that party, in those counties, to fill the more numerous registration and election offices? The chief cause of most of the differences between the North and the South is the dense and utter ignorance of the true condition of southern affairs apparently nursed by northern people.

A DELEGATION of kickers who called up on President Harrison last Saturday say he told them he had not recognized General Mahone as the head of the party in Virginia and did not contemplate doing so. Words. All the appointments so far made in Virginia except the Harrisonburg postmaster, and to that the General had drawn his objection, were made on General Mahone's recommendation, and no matter what the President may say to the contrary, Virginia republicans have been informed by the Assistant Postmaster General, and also at the Treasury and Navy Departments, that applications for places must be endorsed by General Mahone.

ACCORDING to Rev. Mr. Madden, of Kansas, the people of Johnston were worse than those of Sodom and Gomorrah, as all of those killed by the late flood went to the devil at once. The reverend gentleman referred to, in his sermon in Pittsburgh yesterday, said:

"I was in Johnston when the flood occurred, but managed through my own energy and perseverance to escape the flood. Those who did not do so left a warning six hours old go unheeded, waited, were drowned, and went to hell."

But John Brown hailed from Kansas, and so does Senator Ingalls.

A GOOD deal of discussion is now going on in the newspapers and magazines of the North concerning ways and means by which to secure fair elections in this country. To all of those engaged in this discussion the desired object seems exceedingly hard to attain, but to wise people it seems that nothing could be more easy. From the point of view of the latter, a repeal of the ballot law and a return to the good and true old system of viva voce voting would effect the desired object at once and effectually.

MR. CROPLEY of Georgetown, says: "The C. & O. Canal should be repaired; that no railroad could do as much for the District of Columbia as that canal, properly managed, can do, and that no railroad can carry coal as cheaply as can a canal." Mr. Cropley is right. If the Washingtonians will set their minds to it, they can induce Congress to appropriate enough money to lengthen the locks and extend the canal to the Ohio, and then the prosperity of Georgetown will be assured.

COL. O'FERRALL is an efficient Congressman and would doubtless make a popular gubernatorial candidate and an excellent Governor, but his chance for a nomination can not certainly be improved by the endorsement of the Washington Post, a republican newspaper edited by Mr. Hatton, who when Postmaster General handed over the Virginia postoffices to General Mahone, and who now is the General's chief backer in Washington.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has issued an order abolishing Sunday inspections and dress parades in the army. Mr. Harrison may be a sensible man, but the order referred to doesn't prove that he is. Dress parades on Sunday never kept a man from church who wanted to go there, and their abolition will never make a man go to church who doesn't want to go.

A REPUBLICAN newspaper says there is no reason to believe that the late attacks upon the war record of Maj. Bev. Tucker induced the President to revoke the nomination of the Haytian commissioners. But people who know better say the attacks referred to, and nothing else, were the sole cause of that revocation.

Captain Lucien L. Bass, president of the Richmond board of aldermen, died on Saturday.

FROM WASHINGTON.

(Special Correspondence of the Alex. Gazette.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10, 1889.

Among the strangers in the city to-day is Mr. Meritt, of Cumberland. He says that most of the damage to the C. & O. canal is at or near Harper's Ferry, and that $125,000 will put the whole canal in good order again. That sum, he says, can readily, and will be advanced by the people whose interests are subserved by the canal if its return be assured. The canal directors will meet in Annapolis on Wednesday, the Maryland board of public works on Thursday, and the other people interested in the canal on Friday, and by these several meetings Mr. Meritt thinks something will be done by which the canal may be repaired. He seems to think that if Mr. Gorman does not interfere the canal will be saved.

Gen. Grover has been informed by Mr. Halford, the President's private secretary, that the President has postponed receiving the "kickers" committee and hearing their side of the case that now divides the Virginia republicans until Wednesday next. The hearing was to have taken place tomorrow, and in anticipation of that event most of the members of the committee appointed by the "kickers" at their late meeting in this city, to present their case to the President, are already in the city, but Gov. Cameron, who will do most of the talking, has not yet arrived. Several of those here congregated in the reading room of the Ebbit House to-day and had a sort of informal conference.

A private letter received at the Capitol to-day says that Senator Ransom while walking in his garden one day last week slipped, and falling, broke the same arm that a bullet had broken during the war.

Several republican members of Congress are now in the city. While they all don't agree that it will be wise, most of them seem to think that the small republican majority in the next House will not only attempt to so change the rules of that body as to prevent democratic filibustering, but to elect a speaker who will attempt to carry out the wishes of that majority.

Mr. John D. Backwell, ex-Judge of Danville, is not an applicant for the Danville postoffice, and was not informed by Postmaster General Wamsutter that the present postmaster at Danville would not be removed until the expiration of the term for which he was appointed. Such a statement was made in this correspondence last week by the inadvertent substitution of Mr. Backwell's name for that of somebody else. Mr. Backwell is an applicant for the place of district attorney of the western district of Virginia.

Among the President's callers last Saturday evening was the colored editor of a colored newspaper printed in Petersburg, Virginia, named Lewis. He says the President told him he had not bestowed the federal patronage in Virginia upon General Mahone and did not intend to do so. Mr. Brady, one of the leading "kickers," being asked to-day if what Lewis said was correct, replied he supposed so; that certainly Lewis said so.

Among the Virginia republicans of the anti Mahone or "kickers" wing of the party now here are ex-Congressmen Brady and Libby, Maj. S. P. Bayly, ex-Senator Riddleberger, State Senator Morgan Treat, and Dr. Gilmer.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

E. D. Davenport, senior member of the importing and grocery house of Davenport & Morris, died in Richmond yesterday.

No traces of the body of young Hunter, who was drowned at Fredericksburg during the recent freshet, have yet been obtained.

Mr. Innan H. Payne, jr., has been removed from his position in the Norfolk navy yard and Mr. W. H. Eaton, a former clerk, appointed in his place.

Richard Deale, of Corsicana, Texas, son of General R. L. T. Deale, of Westmoreland county, died yesterday at Corsicana. His remains will be brought on for interment.

The exercises of the thirty-sixth annual commencement of Randolph College began yesterday with the baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. James G. Vase, D. D., of Providence, R. I.

The Supreme Council of the order of Royal Arcanum, at their meeting at Atlantic City, N. J., on Saturday, elected Judge Leigh R. Watts, of Portsmouth, to the position of Supreme Regent.

The stonecutters in the Norfolk navy yard have struck because a negro stonecutter who was formerly a convict in the Raleigh penitentiary, and learned his trade there, was put to work among the white men.

The great annual meeting of German Baptists is in progress at Harrisonburg. Yesterday the great preliminary meeting was held prior to the regular order of exercises, which commenced on Tuesday. Probably 15,000 people were on the grounds, of whom about 5,000 were members of the order.

A dispatch from Washington says: "M. N. Lewis, editor of the Petersburg Herald, and a delegation of colored republicans called on the President on Saturday to protest against any recognition of Mahone in the distribution of patronage in Virginia. They claimed to represent ninety per cent. of the colored republicans of the State, and declared they would not sanction Mahoneism in Virginia. The impression had got out, they said, that Mahone was being recognized by the administration. They wanted to protest against this. The President, it is said, in reply told them that he had not done so and did not contemplate recognizing Mahone."

From Johnston.

Yesterday was the hottest day since the disaster. The hot sun beating down on the wreckage above the bridge has developed the fact that many bodies of animals and probably human beings are yet in the ruins and the stench arising from this pile was more offensive than at any time yet.

An expert on Saturday opened the vault of the First National Bank, and the Savings Bank, and all their contents were found just as they had been left on Friday when the mighty waves struck. The body of a cashier of one of the local banks was found in the jam by the bridge, and his pockets were bulging out with bags full of currency. He had evidently grabbed all the money in sight when the flood caught him, with the idea that he might escape alive and protect some of the bank's funds. The money taken from him amounted to about $2,000.

The number of the lost is placed now at between 3,500 and 4,000. The last statement of the number of bodies recovered is 1,500.

It is said that fully fifty persons heretofore accounted as dead are really alive. The remains that are now being removed from the drifts are far advanced in decomposition, and physicians are advocating their cremation as fast as found, as it is almost impossible to handle them safely.

Cambria county may be called upon to pay a bill for coroner's inquests amounting to nearly a quarter of a million of dollars. Coroner Ashbridge says that it is the duty of the Coroner to hold an inquest upon each body found.

The blame of the disaster has been placed upon the South Fork Hunting and Fishing Club, and so angry are some of the people in the vicinity that trouble is feared.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Col. Charles C. Langdon, secretary of State of Alabama, died at Mobile on Saturday.

The membership of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's church has decreased from 2,543 to 1,855.

Bishop Quintard's beautiful residence at Sewanee, Tenn., was burned Saturday night. The bishop's valuable collection of curiosities was totally destroyed.

Edward Hanlan arrived at San Francisco on the 24th of Saturday, after an absence of nearly three years. He says his rowing days are over, and he is going back to Toronto to live.

Charles F. Ball, cashier in the office of the United States Express Company, was arrested in Washington yesterday charged with the embezzling of $4,100 belonging to the company.

J. P. Hutchinson, a well known mining operator during the Leadville mining excitement, was arrested at Denver last night charged with passing bogus checks on the First National Bank of New York to the amount of several hundred dollars.

The sixty ton centre board lugger Paradox, which is destined to race in American waters, was launched at East Boorne Saturday evening. The Paradox is 70 feet in length, 20 feet beam and draws 9 feet of water. She will carry 26 tons of lead on her keel and will have a spread of 7,000 square feet of canvas.

In Baltimore on Saturday Moses Blondheim, a young man, was released on bail for court by Justice Benner, charged with embezzling $158 from his employers, M. Westheimer & Co., wholesale liquor dealers. His method was, it is charged, to collect money on bills, appropriate a portion of it, and conceal his action by making false entries on his books.

Shortly after 3 o'clock at Niagara Falls, yesterday afternoon "Jacko" Walker, a boatman and fisherman at the falls, with Frank Davy as a companion, started in a boat from the shore above the inlet of the Hydraulic canal for the head of Goat Island. The men lost control of the boat, which was drawn into the current and carried over the Horse Shoe falls.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that the Czar told the Shah, that if, while in England, he should make a concession unfavorable to Russia, 10,000 Russian soldiers now on the frontier would be made to march into Persia. It is reported in St. Petersburg that during the Shah's visit there a secret treaty was made between Russia and Persia for the temporary annexation of Northern Persia to Russia in certain cases.

Ex-Senator D. M. Sabin, of Minnesota, has quietly secured a divorce from his wife. The charge made in the complaint was that of habitual drunkenness. It is asserted that Mrs. Sabin had for some time prior to her marriage been an invalid, and during that time became addicted to the use of morphine. The habit, it is claimed, has been indulged in to a greater or less extent ever since, and in later years she has added to it the use of intoxicating liquors.

Gen Rosser's Speech.

General Thomas L. Rosser delivered a speech before the Confederate Memorial Association at Staunton on Saturday. He spoke of nations erecting monuments to their heroic dead. He said the difference between the Northern and Southern monuments was that in the South they were erected over graves to virtue and patriotism and in the North, in cities, by pharisaical Yankees to enhance real estate and over the graves of bounty jumpers and hirelings and empty graves; and they expected God Almighty and the Angel Gabriel to resurrect their lies. Southern soldiers fought for the rights of States and the integrity of homes—for virtue and patriotism; the Northern men for self, plunder and pay. In 1861 the integrity of the Southern States was in danger. They withdrew from the corruptive influence to secure peace and prosperity. "The Southern people are Saracens—the Northern people Celts," said Gen. Rosser. "I chuckle over the results arising from socialism and anarchism in the North from which we are free. It has been said that we are the same people, but that was a long time ago. New evolution, or some process, has made us different creatures, and soon capital and oppressed manhood will flee to the South where honest men can protect them. [Applause.] The world will see that rebels are the only true patriots and supporters of Constitutional liberty. I approve all the Southern Confederacy did. It destroyed evil forces and established good ones. Its monuments are to truth, patriotism and glory, not brazen images resulting from blemished hearts and conduct. The North abandons the race they emancipated, except their votes. No Greelys, Whitneys, Beechers, or John Bowers write or preach or die for them. They are abandoned by the pharisaical Yankee, who is to correct God's mistake and place the brazen image over the superior. Long after the brazen images in Washington and elsewhere have been thrown down and the G. A. R., (so called) Sherman, Forester, and such like shall be with the rubbish of the French revolution assigned to obscurity; the names of Lee and Jackson will be bright and glorious."

Lynched.

About three weeks ago the drug store of Dr. J. W. Bryant, at Crewe, in Nottoway county, was broken into and robbed. The same night the dwelling house of John Moran, in the same town, was entered and a criminal assault committed on Mrs. Moran by the burglar. At the time the assault was committed Mrs. Moran was sick in bed with an infant only three weeks old lying at her side. Mrs. Moran awoke and found a negro in her bed. She screamed and her appeals for help awoke her husband who was in the next room but not before the scoundrel had made his escape. The next day two negroes named John Davis and John Forbes, were arrested as the guilty parties. Forbes confessed to the robbery of Dr. Bryant's store, and stated that Davis kept watch at the window while he committed the theft. The feeling against the two prisoners has been very bitter in the county ever since the assault was committed on Mrs. Moran, and plans were twice laid for lynching them. A few nights ago Judge Mann, of the county court of Nottoway, received reliable information that everything had been arranged by a party of men from Prince Edward and Nottoway counties to lynch Forbes and Davis. He thereupon had the prisoners sent to Petersburg for safekeeping. On Friday Forbes was arraigned for trial in the County Court of Nottoway for housebreaking, robbing and larceny, and his punishment fixed at fifteen years in the penitentiary. After his conviction Forbes made a full confession of everything. He said he robbed Dr. Bryant's store and then broke into Mr. Moran's house and committed a criminal assault on Mrs. Moran. This confession caused great indignation, and Saturday morning about two o'clock about fifty masked men from the surrounding county went to the county jail. Forbes was taken out of his cell and taken to the county house yard where he was hanged to the limb of a tree. His body was found that morning dangling from the tree perforated with eighteen bullet holes. Forbes was sixteen years of age and very black. He went to Crewe a short time ago from the State of Delaware.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

Tragedy in Fauquier.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]
MARKHAM, June 10.—Messrs. Robert and E. C. Turner, jr., called upon their brother-in-law, Mr. E. P. Turner, yesterday in regard to some difference between them. An altercation ensued, after which the Messrs. Robert and E. C. Turner, jr., left the house for their home—their horse being tied several hundred yards from the house. After leaving the house they looked back and saw Mr. E. P. Turner following them with a pistol in each hand. Before he got near them—he was walking faster than they—they told him not to come any farther; this was repeated several times but not heeded by him. They thinking he would shoot at any moment turned about; he, at the same time, raised his pistol as Robert Turner raised his, and both shot but without effect. At the second fire Robert Turner fell. Edward C. Turner went to him and took his pistol. Edward P. continued firing then at Edward C. until seven loads were discharged. Edward C. fired five times at Edward P., when his pistol being empty, he held it up and Edward P. stopped shooting. Edward C. was not touched. Edward P. received a ball in his breast and had one finger shot off. As soon as it was known in the neighborhood the officers arrested Edward P. Turner. Robert Turner leaves a widow and three children. This terrible tragedy has caused deep sorrow and gloom in this community. Robert was the son of Edward C. Turner, sr., and was one of the most popular and best young men in the county.

PLAIN, June 10.—The tragedy which resulted in the killing of Mr. R. F. Turner grew out of a family trouble. It is said that Lt. E. P. Turner had for some time past treated his wife harshly, and that on Saturday he whipped her. Her brothers, R. F. and Edward Turner, who are first cousins of E. P. Turner, yesterday went to the latter's house in reference to the affair, and the quarrel which then took place resulted in the tragedy.

Lt. Turner is a son of the late Admiral Turner and several years since, while in the United States army, killed a man in Texas. A few years since he was appointed U. S. consul to Mozambique, but did not go there. R. F. Turner's first wife was a daughter of Mr. W. D. Corse, then of Alexandria. His second wife was Miss Meredith, of Fauquier.

Effects of the Flood.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 10.—Advices from all parts of the State indicate great damage from the rains of the past week both to the growing crops and to property situated along the water courses. The river here is out of its banks, and has done great damage to fencing all along its course. Fields of corn, wheat and oats have been entirely washed out, and others have been greatly damaged along the Sangamon river. In White and other counties the bottoms are all covered with water, and hundreds of acres of growing crops are submerged. Many families have fled to the highlands for safety. Clay county has suffered greatly, many of the farm houses being partly under water. Several of the mines are flooded, and a section of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad was washed out. A gentleman who returned yesterday from the Ohio river reports that the stream is very high and is rising rapidly and that a large amount of the wreckage from Johnston is being brought down. He counted several dead animals, and saw parts of houses that must have belonged to this unfortunate city.

Terrific Storm.

UTICA, N. Y., June 10.—A terrific wind storm passed through Port Leyden, Lewis county, and the tower portion of Jefferson county, about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, blowing houses, overturning trees, and buildings and doing much damage. The steeple of the Catholic Church at Port Leyden was blown down and the one on the Methodist Church moved in such manner as to make it dangerous. One house was picked up and carried about 100 feet, an old gentleman and lady therein being injured. The most damage was done in a path about eighty rods wide, though trees, and fences were overturned on a wide territory. The wires are all down and particulars cannot now be obtained.

The Boulangerist Agitation.

PARIS, June 10.—The Boulangerist members of the Chamber of Deputies now in Paris have entered a protest against the action of the authorities of Angoulême in prohibiting the Boulangerist meeting which was to have been held there yesterday and in arresting those who resisted their action. They accuse the government of an endeavor to initiate a revolution and hold the ministers responsible for the interference of the Angoulême authorities. The statement to be issued by Gen. Boulanger in reference to the letters seized by the Paris police in the residences of two Boulangerist leaders will declare that their contents are unimportant.

The Situation at Johnston.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 10.—There is little change in the general situation here to-day and all the various departments are moving along in a manner highly satisfactory to the parties in charge. The great quantities of debris which have been loosened from above the stone bridge and floated down stream have formed a gorge opposite Cambria City, and a number of men were sent to-day to remove this, as it closed the channel, stopping the flow and rendering very difficult the work of removing the wreckage at the stone bridge. The weather is threatening and heavy rains have several times stopped the workmen.

Bowls irregular and contaminated, resulting in piles, avoided by taking Simmons' Liver Regulator.

Railroad Accident.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 10.—The west bound train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad met with an accident a short distance this side of Sugar Notch this morning through the breaking of an axle on one of the forward passenger coaches. The cars were all badly wrecked and sixteen passengers were seriously injured, though none fatally.

Indictments Found.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The grand jury has found indictments against Doctors Irwin, Ferguson and Hance, the physicians who performed the autopsy on the body of Washington Irving Bishop, the mind reader, for violation of the sanitary law. They will be called on to-morrow to plead in the general sessions court.

Fatal Rehearsal.

CINCINNATI, June 10.—Harry Stephens and his cousin Charlie Clements, aged about 13, while rehearsing a border drama in the attic yesterday became excited and discharged their revolvers. Young Stephens received a dangerous and possibly fatal wound in the abdomen and Clements was painfully shot in the hand.

Child Murdered.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 10.—Maggie Thompson, not quite 9 years old, has been missing for several days. Last night her mutilated remains were found under the house of Henry Lueth, a German cabinet maker. Lueth's son has confessed that he murdered the child. The entire family have been arrested.

Killed His Baby.

CINCINNATI, June 10.—Michael Cronin, a laborer living in the eastern part of the city, yesterday became drunk, together with his wife at their home, and upon the woman refusing to give him money to procure beer Cronin threw a heavy teacup at her and struck his 13-months-old baby on the head, causing its death.

Three Miners Killed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 10.—Three miners, in the employ of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, were instantly killed at noon to-day in the Nottingham mine at Plymouth by a fall of top coal at rock.

An Appeal for Aid.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., June 10.—At a meeting of citizens held to-day a resolution was adopted requesting that an appeal for aid be issued to the people of the United States.

The wife of a cigar dealer named John Jacob Astor, who claims relationship to the well known family of that name, killed herself in New York yesterday because her husband was desperately poor.

The agitation of the cow question in Fort Dodge, Ia., culminated on Saturday in a monster mass meeting. A brass band paraded the streets followed by men and boys with cow bells. The meeting was called to order by the ringing of cow bells. A committee was appointed to confer with the Admiration and have the ordinance rescinded.

The worst attacks of indigestion Simmons' Liver Regulator never fails to relieve.

Meeting of the Executive Committee.

Mr. Barbour has issued the following call for a meeting of the State Executive Committee. The democratic press of the State is requested to copy:

ROOMS STATE DM. EXECUTIVE COM. ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 10, 1889. The members of the State Democratic Executive Committee are requested to meet at the Exchange Hotel, Richmond, Va., Wednesday, June 19, at 8 p. m., to fix the date of the State convention, and for general conference. While no formal call is made for a meeting of the State Central Committee, an invitation is extended to such of them as can conveniently attend to do so, and participate in the deliberations of the executive committee. JOHN S. BARBOUR, Chairman, W. W. SCOTT, Secretary.

The Flood in Stafford.

[Correspondence Alexandria Gazette.]
RICHLAND, Stafford county, June 8.—The railroad bridge at Richland was washed away. Baker's mill dam, three-quarters of a mile distant, was also carried away, and Henry Ross, colored, narrowly escaped with his life. He had to be taken out of the back window. He lost all of his pigs and chickens, but what hurt him more, he had a demijohn of old rye whisky which got well watered. Dr. Stone's mill and dam were swept away and is a total loss. The doctor had just had it repaired at a cost of $500. So he has no mill by a dam site. The mill dam at Richland had been broken but once in 90 years. W. W.

No doctor's bill presented to the families who use Simmons' Liver Regulator.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The stock market this morning was dull and uninteresting, and the general course of prices was downward. Openings were generally from 3/4 to 1/2 per cent. below the than the prices of Saturday, though the losses were almost made up later. At 11 o'clock the market was dull and heavy, with small trading under the opening figures. Money easy at 2 1/2.
